Winter Recital, December 9, 7:00 pm

Our Winter Recital will be held Friday evening, December 9th at 7pm. As usual we will be at the Stowe Family Music Recital Hall. For those of you new to my studio, contact me and I will give you their address and directions.

Our theme for this recital is music from around the world and most students have chosen music from a particular country. If you have souvenirs from that country and would be willing to display them, I would love to have you do so. Can you also provide a small card or paper explaining a little bit about the item. That to me, makes the item more special. I am going to set up tables on the stage and keep these items in the recital for you to look at after the recital. I will be feeling safer with the items in the room while we are playing.

If students want to dress up in traditional costume of the country that would be fine.

Since we will be looking at displays after the recital, I am looking for alternatives for refreshments. Mr. Stowe doesn't want food or drink in the recital hall, and I can understand why.

Shall we do refreshments anyway and just have 'guard's at the door? I've thought of just having a bag of goodies for everyone to take home, Any other ideas?

If you have any other ideas for decorations or themed ideas I would love them. This is not my strong point and I would love help in this area.

Thanks.

Ensemble Recital Nov. 12

The local music teacher's chapter is sponsoring a patriotic ensemble recital this Saturday at 7 pm at the Stowe Family Music Recital Hall. I have eight students participating. We wish them all the best. Good luck!

Group Classes Nov. 23rd

Group classes will be held this month on the 23rd of November. Times and class lists will be the same as in September. They are also posted on the back of this newsletter. Remember to bring a can to make into a drum. I would prefer it if you can bring a larger size can, A #10 can if possible a large fruit/tomato can. We will be studying African music as well as playing through our recital pieces for the Winter Recital.
